E. Methods for Assessing Student Learning

Instructors will use a variety of formative and summative assessment techniques based upon their personal preferences to assess student accomplishment of the course goals and objectives and appeal to diverse learning styles, including but not limited to:

1. Ungraded or "low-stakes" assignments intended to provide instructors with immediate feedback on their instruction and improve student understanding of the course material. Examples: think-pair-share discussions; brief in-class writing exercises; reflection papers; and mid-semester course evaluations. Ungraded assignments may be either individual or group.
2. Graded assignments intended to assess student understanding of the course material. Examples: objective exams (multiple choice, true/false and fill-in-the-blank); essay or short answer exams; papers (research, description or source analysis); and oral presentations. Graded assignments may be either individual or group.
3. Extra credit opportunities. Examples: reflection or reaction papers, based upon course material or attendance at a relevant cultural event or historical site; research or source analysis papers; and oral presentations.
